

Table of Contents

Introduction	7
PART 1
THE EMPIRES	19
Mikhail Gurevich Teasing the Sacred Cows to the End of History: Appropriation of Emblematic Imagery in Late- and Post-Soviet Animation.....	20
Michał Bobrowski Ideological Hall of Mirrors. Reflections of Soviet Propaganda in American Propaganda of the 1940s and 1950s.....	39
Michał Mróz “Propaganda à la fairy tale” in the Third Reich.....	69
Olga Bobrowska Maoist Remoulding of the Legend of Monkey King, or Analyzing Ideological Implications of Wan Laiming’s Havoc in Heaven	83
PART 2
THE SATELLITES	105
Magdalena Krzosek-Hołody City. Mass. Machine. Urban Dystopia and the Nostalgia for Nature in Polish Animated Film of the Post-War Era.....	106
Anna Ida Orosz Collages from the Underground. How documentary methods emerged in Hungarian animation during the 1960s	118
Jiří Neděla Elements of Propaganda in Jan Švankmajer’s Film The Death of Stalinism in Bohemia	135
Bogusław Zmudziński Jan Švankmajer against Ideology and Propaganda.....	145

PART 3

THE THIRD ROAD.....153

Midhat Ajanović Ajan

Little Man at the Turn of the Worlds:

A View of the Origin, History and the Ideological Foundation of the Phenomenon of the Zagreb School of Animated Film.....154

Milen Alempijević

Serbian Animation: From Political Joke to Paradigm.....175

PART 4

THE INDIVIDUALS.....195

Guo Chunning (Maggie)

The Echo of Women through Silent Paper Cut-Out Animation:

“Scissorhands” Lotte Reiniger’s Reflection through Body Language.....196

Vassilis Kroustallis

In and out of Europe:

Translocality and Cultural Hybridity In Crulic: The Path to Beyond (2011).....209

Theodore Ushev

A-Z manifesto 2017 (Animation as a weapon).....222

Notes on Contributors.....225

Acknowledgements.....231

Index.....233